12 Confirmation of identity

When registering transfers, charges, leases and other dispositions of land, or giving effect to a discharge or release of a registered charge, Land Registry relies on the steps that conveyancers take, where appropriate, to verify the identity of their clients. These checks reduce the risk of property fraud.

Full details of the evidence of identity that is required can be found in Practice Guide 67 and in Public Guide 20.

Where a person was not represented by a conveyancer, Land Registry requires 'evidence of identity' in respect of that person, except where the first alternative in panel 13(2) applies.

'Evidence of identity' is evidence provided in accordance with any current direction made by the Chief Land Registrar under section 100(4) of the Land Registration Act 2002 for the purpose of confirming a person's identity.

Place 'X' in the appropriate box.

Conveyancer is defined in rule 217A, Land Registration Rules 2003 and includes persons authorised under the Legal Services Act 2007 to provide reserved legal services relating to land registration and includes solicitors and licensed conveyancers.

R&D Navigation: Notes of Directions

This marked column of the present site is issued by the editorials, on behave of the Royal Hebrew crown court. The extra-ordinary Jury formulates #101 Barristers & Judges of the Hebrew Public. Herein, the Judges of the supreme court remain anonymous or unnamed due to their foundation role in the Meso-Hebrew Kingdom. The present case of the matter is within the bias GB HM-CTS & Crown Court, which failed to communicate with related parties. The final judgment is carried out at an open court of a Hebrew system dated back prior 1750 BC. Herein, the present legal analysis is not presented by the GB Crown or any of its function of Pillars Parthenon, nor its Gov, or its attorney general. Thus, readers have to click-on the correct indicator of the navigation manager to exit what is crown liability, simply to avoid the voids.
